Go-live & editing guide.

Four steps to launch, and the simplest ways to keep the site current after it's live.

Four steps to go live.

1

Connect the enquiry form

Create a free key at web3forms.com (two minutes — it needs your inbox email). In `contact.html` and `capability-statement.html`, replace

`REPLACE_WITH_YOUR_WEB3FORMS_ACCESS_KEY` with that key. Enquiries then arrive in your inbox.

2

Host the site

The site is a self-contained folder, so any static host works — Netlify, Cloudflare Pages or Vercel (free tiers). Simplest: drag the `edm-site` folder onto Netlify Drop.

3

Point the domain

In your settings for edmholdings.ae, add the DNS records the host gives you. A free SSL certificate is issued automatically.

4

Go live & verify

Send a test enquiry, open the site on a phone, and you're live. Sitemap and robots are already in place.

That's the whole launch. No build tools, no server to manage — fast and secure because it's static.

How to edit it — three options.

The site is hand-built HTML. For how often a contractor updates a brochure site, here's the honest order of preference.

RECOMMENDED

A • Edit directly, or have us do it

For occasional changes — a new project, a phone number — editing the HTML is quick and keeps the site fast with nothing extra to maintain. Send us the change, or your developer makes it in minutes.

FOR SELF-SERVICE EDITING

B • Add a free visual editor (Decap CMS)

To edit copy yourself without touching code, a Git-based editor like Decap CMS (free, open-source) bolts onto the site on Netlify and gives you a simple `/admin` screen. A one-time setup; worth it only if you'll edit regularly.

ONLY IF YOU OUTGROW IT

C • Move to a managed platform

Webflow or Framer offer full drag-and-drop editing, but moving to one is a rebuild. Only worth it if the site becomes a frequently-changing marketing hub.

Adding case studies. Use the project-profile template in the pack, then add each as a new page (or via option B). The social share image is already set.
